Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 30 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine, sunny and very warm.

Today:
Any early mist or fog patches will soon clear to reveal a dry day with prolonged periods of sunshine. Winds will be light, and it will feel very warm through the afternoon. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
After a fine end to the day, it will stay dry overnight with clear spells and light winds. Turning chilly, especially in the countryside. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:
Fine on Wednesday with sunny spells and light winds allowing it to become very warm again through the afternoon. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Starting cloudy on Thursday but turning brighter and cooler, although remaining warm in the west. Thereafter cool but dry with sunny spells by day but cold and locally frosty overnight.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.